Limitations have never been something that I have wanted to admit. I have spent a good part of my life pushing myself to accomplish things that were hard. Finishing a marathon. Training for a century bike ride. Driving to a conference from Florida to Indiana without stopping except for gas and a bathroom break. Ok, I admit it; that one was pretty dumb, and I had the blood clots in my leg to prove it.

More recently, I have come to accept some of my limitations and pledged to work on accepting others that are more challenging. I love downhill skiing, but with two knee replacements, downhill skiing is in the rearview mirror. Maybe cross-country skiing? I have finished 6 marathons. And that will be it. No more marathons. I never wanted to live in New York City permanently, but I dreamed about living there for a year or two to experience it. That's not going to happen. I can't stay out as late as I used to and there are foods that I can no longer eat. You know what I'm getting at. You could make your own list.

I've been reading lately in some of the books by Oliver Burkeman. You might know him for his best-selling book, "Four Thousand Weeks." He starts by reminding us that our life span, on average, is about four thousand weeks. In the long scheme of things, that's a pretty short time. Limited, if you will. (By the way, I'd highly recommend not only that book but his more recent one, "Meditations for Mortals.") But he does not dwell on that chronological limitation as a depressing reality; rather it's freeing to be honest and real about the relatively short span of our lives and then make some decisions about how we will best use the limited time we have.

I've embraced the truth that recognizing limitations can actually be quite freeing. If it's clear that I'm never going to have my year in NYC, then quit thinking about it and plan for what's possible. I can't run 35 miles a week anymore, but I can certainly find joy in walking 20 miles a week. It does no good to think about the life that you wish you had; it's a good and holy thing to embrace the life that you do have, the wonderful life that God has given and that God inhabits, and that God has promised to bless.

Burkeman is merely doing a riff on the ancient wisdom of the psalmist, "Lord, teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom." I'm convinced that a heart of wisdom is to be able to do two things at once: one, to delight in the goodness of God and the wonder of each day's gifts and live in that day's gifts and embrace that day's gifts, and, two, to use the gifts of each day in service to our neighbor.

The one limitation that our Christian faith has burst, is the limitation of the grave. The Easter proclamation of Jesus' resurrection is the promise that the grave ushers us into a fuller and never-ending relationship with God. As you receive this newsletter, we are just a few weeks away from Holy Week and Easter. This year, we will again hold our Maundy Thursday service in Fellowship Hall with dinner around the table and devotional reflections on the meaning of the day and our entry into the Great Three Days. Many, many volunteers will be needed for the Maundy Thursday service. When the call goes out, think and pray about how you will be part of the celebration.

Good Friday will be a devotional reflection on Jesus' death for our life, and will take place in the sanctuary in the evening.

And finally, we will celebrate the Easter Feast, the Resurrection of our Lord, with a festival celebration in the sanctuary at 9:30 on Easter Sunday, April 20. The service will be ramp up our celebration in so many ways, including musically. I know you will be there; I hope you will invite friends and neighbors to join us for the celebration of our life in God and with God, all made real through Jesus' death and resurrection.

LOVE, THE GREATEST GIFT OF ALL

Hi, friends! As I was sitting here at my computer on a beautiful morning in March (okay, it's really cold and snow is covering all the outdoor surfaces, but the sun is shining brightly in a lovely blue sky), my thoughts turn to LOVE. Love of neighbor, love of family, love of community, love of oneself. God has given us a tremendous gift in the richness of life we enjoy each and every day. God has provided a loving community for us to share our joys and sorrows, friends who meet us wherever and whenever we are in need of companionship, solace, a quiet time of "just being", no conversation or explanation needed. "What wondrous love is this, O my soul, O my soul!"

Looking in my bible today, I found these very familiar words:

For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life. John 3:16

Then a sheet of paper fell out from the book, containing words of explanation and expansion of this familiar passage. There was no attribution to the author of these thoughts, so I can't share the origin story, but the words on the paper spoke to me today. Let me share them with you:

God	The greatest subject ever
So (much)	The greatest extent ever
Loved	The greatest affection ever
The world (kosmos)	The greatest object ever
That he gave His One-and-Only Son,	The greatest gift ever
So that every single individual, whoever,	The greatest opportunity ever
Who is [simply] entrusting oneself to him	The greatest commitment ever
Would never be destroyed,	The greatest rescue ever
But would even now have a deep, lasting Life.	The greatest promise ever.

As we turn our eyes from the introspection of the Season of Lent towards the illumination of Easter, there is one example of LOVE that informs all of our lives! The love of Jesus for all of us, a sacrificial love that took our burdens and sinful nature upon Himself. Jesus approached the cross with the weight of darkness on his shoulders so that we might live in the light of God's love forever. "Ah, holy Jesus, how hast thou offended?"

WHAT WONDROUS LOVE IS THIS

W. Walker, Southern Harmony, 1835

What wondrous love is this, O my soul, O my soul!
 What wondrous love is this, O my soul!
 What wondrous love is this that caused the Lord of bliss
 To bear the dreadful curse for my soul, for my soul,
 To bear the dreadful curse for my soul?

When I was sinking down, sinking down, sinking down,
 When I was sinking down, sinking down,
 When I was sinking down beneath God's righteous frown,
 Christ laid aside his crown for my soul, for my soul,
 Christ laid aside his crown for my soul.

To God and to the Lamb I will sing, I will sing;
 To God and to the Lamb I will sing;
 To God and to the Lamb, who is the great I AM,
 While millions join the theme, I will sing, I will sing,
 While millions join the theme, I will sing.

And when from death I'm free, I'll sing on, I'll sing on;
 And when from death I'm free, I'll sing on;
 And when from death I'm free, I'll sing God's love to me,
 And through eternity I'll sing on, I'll sing on;
 And through eternity I'll sing on.

Easter is upon us, bringing joy after a season of sorrow, light after darkness, forgiveness after shame. May we embrace this season of hope and renewal with a sense of urgency to share the GOOD NEWS and live lives of service, sacrifice and LOVE.

Blessings to us all! Amen!

Judith Jackson, Sanctuary Choir Director and Principal Pianist

Building and Grounds Committee

After Services/Meals Turn Off Lights – Whoever is the last person out of the building after an event please turn off all the lights and close the fire curtain into the sanctuary. This is especially important on Sunday because Staff members do not always work on Mondays.

Snow Shoveling – Thank you, Les Keeper for volunteering to keep the sidewalks around the church clear of snow and ice this winter. There were some issues with both snow blowers in February but they were both fixed and back in working order quickly.

HVAC – The sanctuary humidifier was repaired and back in working order on March 10th. While Eagle Mechanical was at the church, they were asked to investigate the lack of heat in the Kitchen/Nursery/Narthex. The thermostat for this area had been set higher on Sunday mornings to try to temper the drafts entering the sanctuary every time the front doors opened. The temperature never seemed to reach the set point. Eagle found that the exhaust fan on the furnace servicing this area had failed which prevented the furnace from running. The fan has been replaced and the furnace is now working.

Sanctuary Ceiling Light Insulation – Thank you Jed Omernick for crawling up, over and through the ceiling trusses over the sanctuary to insulate and close the wood boxes surrounding all the recessed lights in the sanctuary ceiling. These boxes were designed to keep the fiberglass insulation away from the light fixtures because the old incandescent light bulbs generated so much heat. Consequently, the metal fixture boxes were not sealed to allow the heat from the light bulb to dissipate. Now those holes in the metal boxes just let heat from inside the building to escape. The new LED light bulbs generate very little heat so the wood boxes surrounding the metal fixtures can be insulated and sealed. This will prevent the heat from the sanctuary from escaping. It is a good step toward reducing our very high heating bills.

Thomas Tuttle - Chair Buildings and Grounds

If you have any questions, concerns or suggestions regarding the building or grounds, please feel free to mention them to any of the Building and Grounds committee members, Dick Burress, Carol & Karl Omernick, Don Provo, Joel Thomas, Scott Thies, or me. If none of us are around, send me an email or drop a note in the message holder on the custodian's closet door in the narthex (the door between the 2 restrooms). The Building and Grounds Committee is looking for a new member, ladies you are welcome. New perspectives are always welcome. Contact Tom Tuttle if you are interested.

Thank you.

Partners in Ministry

Are you looking for an opportunity to help out at Shepherd of the Bay or in our community? Here are a few ways you can help and support community programs.

Come Party in the Church Kitchen!

Come and socialize with some fellow members of Shepherd of the Bay as we clean the kitchen and of course share some food. We hope to gather a group of 6-7, on May 1, from 8-noon. We may be finished sooner, if we have a good size group of people to help. If each person takes a section of the kitchen, we can accomplish a lot in a short amount of time.

Please let Jane Burress (jgburressnature4u@gmail.com) or Barbara Zage (barbarazage@gmail.com) know, if you are available to help on May 1. If you can't be there May 1, but would be willing to clean a cupboard, the refrigerator, or stove on your own prior to May 1, let us know. Any help is appreciated. Thank you!

Do you like to cook or bake?

Shepherd of the Bay will once again coordinate meals for the Habitat/Housing Partnership Build in Sister Bay, beginning in May. If you are willing to provide all or part of a meal, please contact Dick or Jane Burress at jgburressnature4u@gmail.com. If you are willing to provide a donation of money to put towards meals, we welcome that too.

Would you like a free lunch?

Come and help with a Habitat/Housing Partnership build in Sister Bay, beginning in May, on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Come for a few hours, a half day, or full day. Please contact Tom Tuttle for more information. Lunch is served at 11:30.

Share your time before, during, or after the Pathways to Mental Wellness Event, by volunteering to help.

There is a sign-up sheet in the narthex. This is a great opportunity to get to know fellow members of the congregation. "Many hands make light work." We hope to have your help delivering posters, making desserts, corn bread, veggie trays, cheese trays, fruit trays, set up help, kitchen help, clean up help, chili makers, donations of ingredients, donations of money, sponsoring the speaker, etc. Any help is appreciated. Please contact Jane Burress (jgburressnature4u@gmail.com), Julia Keepper (julia.keepper@gmail.com), or Lynda Pietruszka (720-227-4079 or sotb.lynda@gmail.com) if you have questions.
